NOTICE.—I offer for sale my House and Lot, situated in the town of Kenansville. The Lot contains about an acre and a half, with a comfortable dwelling house, and all necessary out buildings in good repair. Economy and convenience are both consulted in the arrangement of the Lot It is situated North of the Court House, about two hundred yards from said building, and has the advantage of being sufficiently private for a family residence. It is considered by persons who have visited it, to be decidedly the most desirable lot in the village. Persons desirous of educating their children have every facility, as there is at the present time a very fine School in operation. I am determined to dispose of my lot and persons desiring a comfact.

The prinstruments or furtherances of Civilization. The printing press, or the electric wire, is a material vehicle of thought of wisdom, of nonsense or of vice, as the case may be If a man tells a lie to one end of a wire, it will not come truth at the other end. The railroad carries men very quickly upon their business such as it is, be their errands good or evil, be their intents wicked or charitable. The sumptuous appointments of houses and carriages, are indeed a splendid garniture of life, if men do not forget the way to live the while. As for what is called commerce, certainly there is nothing intrinsically base or evil in trade and traffic, yet it may be said with at least equal truth, that there is nothing elevating, refining or purifying in it. "As a nail," saith the son of Sirach, "sticketh fast between the corners of stones, so doth sin stick fast between buying and selling." However, that be, certain it is, that there is no more ruthless tyrant on earth than the true commercial spirit; and the present age has seen more human beings slain in one nation, for the mere sake of commerce, in three years, than any thirty years' war ever slew-more miserably and ignominiously slain, than war at its worst and wickedest could ever slay. The every day sentimental cant about universal benevolence and peace-the peace of trade and commerce and Crystal Palacedom meets with little mercy of the hands of the Irish patriot. Not peace, but war has called forth the grandest, finest, tenderest, most generous qualities of manhood and of womanhood. What made America, and breathed into her nostrils a fiery life? War. And oh! the pit of debasement where she lies now? Peace,

Placed, physically, in two hemispheres--placed morally at two opposite poles of thought, in two separate centres of action, those two nations appear to me, (now that Asia is dead, and Africa unborn, and rattle in her throat)--those two young nations seem 150 00 to be set each in its place, each with its own work to 150 00 do, each its own problem to solve, at its own proper peril. The main difference is that Americans will themselves work out their experiment; the Russians will have theirs worked out upon them, and for them. These two nations are now, in the only proper sense of that term, the civilized and civilizing nations of the globe.

NEW HANOVER COUNTY NOMINATIONS. FOR THE SENATE,

OWEN FENNELL FOR THE HOUSE OF COMMONS. SAMUEL J. PERSON. THOMAS H. WILLIAMS.

The Appropriation for the Cape Fear Bar. We find the following in the report of the proceedings of the House of Representatives on the 10th inst., as reported in the Washington Union :

"CAPE FEAR RIVER. Mr. ASHE moved to suspend the rules, and that the Comeration of the bill providing for the removal of obstructions on the Cape Fear river. [The bill appropriates $140,000 for the improvement of the river, and $60,000 to reimburse the citizens of Wilmington, North Carolina.] The House refused to lay the bill on the table-yeas 24, propriating $60,000 to reimburse the citizens of Wilmington, North Carolina. 1

The amendment was agreed to, and the second section

The bill passed-yeas 110, nays 28." Speaking of this matter, the Washington Corresrespondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

"The House to-day passed a joint resolution to take up the bill for the improvement of Cape Fear river, in North Carolina. The bill, after being ably advocated by Mr. shape as to tack a general river and harbor bill to it; but merit. The log rolling, for which the river and harbour bill has become justly notorious, is the thing that killed it several sessions ago ; and it is not likely that it will during the present season have a resurrection."

The following is the Bill as it passed: "AN ACT

Making further appropriation for the improvement of Cape Fear River, North Carolina.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, thirtieth of June, eighteen hundred and fifty-five, to be paid nube out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, and to be expended under the superintendence of the Secretary of War, for the continuation of the improvement of the Cape Fear river, North Carolina, at or near its communica-

The papers which we have received give no information as to the fact of the bill having been signed by the President, or, indeed, of the concurrence of the Senate in the amendment of the House, but we know that both may be taken for granted. We have, however, a private letter from a friend in Washington city, which says that the bill is now the law of the land. The character and sources of information possessed by our correspondent leave no doubt of the fact. He adds,-"The exertions of Mr. Ashe have secured this bill as a separate measure, which has rarely or never before occurred."

Our correspondent adds that Mr. Ashe is in such a joyful humor that he only wishes his friends were with him to join in congratulations over this event, ring the pendency of this matter, we have been enabled to see and appreciate the deep interest which he felt in its success. We knew that he was working for it, both in season and out of season-at times, too, when remarks disparaging to his influence and unjust to his motives were indulged in, when they might well have been spared by the press of Wilmington. Perhaps, too, it would have been quite as well for one of the candidates for Governor to have forborne his references to Mr. Ashe, in connection with this matter. However, every man to his taste-and some people have a very queer taste.

We make these remarks simply from a feeling of what is due to the parties in the affair, and from no wish to make party capital. So far as our little abilities go, they have been freely used in every way that we know how to use them to promote this end and in congratulating our fellow-citizens we do so without distinction of party. It is matter of public and general interest. To use the common expression "It is a great thing for Wilmington." It is a thing upon which all can agree. We have no wish at all to withhold the due credit from Mr. Badger, his exertions. None whatever.

We do not know how much of the sixty thousand dollars subscribed by individuals for carrying on the Matrimonial Advertising. We find few things, says the Boston Post, more amusing in newspapers than the incongruous admixture. of business and sentiment, love and lucre, innocence and impudence, which form the staple of "matrimonial" advertisements. We have several of these choice specimens of "modern literature" before us. The first is the advertisement of "a young gentleman twenty-five years of age, doing business in New York who wishes to form a matrimonial alliance with a young lady not over sixteen years of age. She must be pretty, well developed, of undoubted respectability," &c., &c. Modest young man, isn't he? "Not over sixteen"-nor under ten, we suppose. "Pretty" of course. The particular point of "development" is not specified; he may allude to the bust that she may not die prematurely of consumption,) probably not to the ancle, and certainly not to the orain-any young lady who has the good fortune to be "well developed" in that region not being likely to be caught by a matrimonial advertisement. Who the young gentleman may be he does not state, being doubtless too modest to give an inventory of his own charms. We only learn that he "is doing business in New York;" but as several sorts of business are done in that village-some of which are not so reputable as they might be-we can't say that it throws any light on his character or estate. The reason which the young gentleman assigns for "adopting this mode of obtaining a partner," is that "he does not find a lady possessing the above requisites in his present circle of female acquaintances." Ladies, with all the charms of Helen, "not over sixteen," and of "undoubted respectability," are probably sufficiently scarce in such "circles" as our young

The next advertiser is "thirty years of age," requires all the cardinal virtues and most of the graces, but, quite liberally, fixes the maximum of the lady's age at "twenty-five." As he assures us he is good character and prepossessing appearance," we like him a good deal better than the other young gentleman. That he is rather verdant, however, in spite of his thirty years, is strikingly apparent. Among the requisites of his " partner," that she shall have "good conversational powers Think of that, Master Brook !- as if all ladies not born dumb had not sufficient "powers" in that line Capital! He concludes by saying, that, "having money enough of his own, he is not particular," &c Good. His motto clearly is, "d-n the expense, and we wish him all the luck he deserves. THE MANUFACTURE OF PAPER .- A firm in Otsego county, N.Y., it is said have patented a mode of work ing the fibrous parts of swingle tow into paper and NEW YORK, July 8.—The intelegence from Russial it produces a firm and very white article.

Although the eyes of the world are just now directed almost exclusively to Eastern Europe, in which events are occurring of far more than national import, it may not be either ill-timed, or uninteresting, to cast a hasty glance over another quarter of the globe, in which a developement of power is going on, silently but rapidly-unattended by the startling incidents of battle by land or sea, yet not the less pregnant with results which may influence the destinies of a large portion of the human race. We need scarcely say that our remarks point to the American Republic, and that it is that young giant of the West, whose growth to maturity affords an object of contemplation infinitely more instructive than any which barbaric Russia presents in her frenzied struggle for territorial aggrandizement, or the powers of Western Europe afford in their ill cemented and doubtful union to repel the aggressor. Until within the last few years we have been too much in the habit of treating the accounts brought before us of American progress to greatness, as extravagant gasconade. The governments of Europe have been lisposed to ignore the pretensions which she has put forth until, from one after another, she has wrung reparation for actual or imagined wrongs. Even when we saw her flag flying in every port of the world, and felt the active competition of her merchants and ship-owners, we were disposed to regard her rather an interloping trafficker, with whom, from her distance from us and her isolated position, Europe could have little sympathy, than as the germ of a powerful nation with a mighty future in prospect. With a view to bring about a proper recognition of the actual and growing importance of America as a member of the great family of nations, we propose here to give a few statistics illustrative, not only of the innate elements of strength and progress which people in turning them to profitable account. But we turn once more, before concluding, to the great country of the West, with a view to inquire whether its institutions, and their past working, afford a guarantee of its permanence and continued prosperity. There was a period-in 1828, if we remember aright-when disruption threatened the in tegrity of the Union, and it was prophesied that interests so different as those of the Southern States and the New England and Western States, must ultimately bring about their separation. Even now the slavery question is provoking serious discord, and may have, to those who have not studied the position of the country, a somewhat menacing aspect. But since 1828 much has been effected to cement and strengthen the entire confederation. The various lines of railway and other communications running from North to South on the Atlantic seaboard, and no section of the great republic can now afford to nexed passages: forego, or to see diminished. The importance of maintaining the condition of mutual dependance bemore acknowledged. MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT-FOUR PERSONS DROWNwere drowned by the sinking of a canoe in Evans' Mill pond, in Moore County. They were leaving the bank to cross the pond, when a man jumped upon the end of the canoe, causing it to dip water .-The whole party rushed to the end next next to the shore, when the four immediately sunk with it .-None of them could swim. One was a free man named Jonas Hill. The others were slaves, one belonging to Dr. McClenahan, one to John D. Graffenreidt, jr., and one to Allen W. Jones. Mr. Jones, who was present, plunged in to help, and was very near being drowned himself, being seized and carried to the bottom by one of the drowning men. It was with the utmost difficulty that he released himself Our informant says it was a sad sight to see four drowned bodies lying side by side.

A white man named Duke Malone, and two sons small boys, were also on the boat. The father, being a good swimmer, saved his sons with great difficulty .- Fay. Observer.

Correspondence of the News. CHARLOTTE, (N. C.) July 5, 1854.

MESSRS. EDITORS :- Yesterday a vast Railroad Convention assembled in this city. Old Mecklenburg, of which Charlotte is the capital, is famous for Conventions and declarations. Of her own accord, and without waiting for the rest of the world, she met, in old times, and issued her declaration of independence! Well, she is doing the same thing again. Independence is still her cry-not exactly a hostile cry-but one of commercial independence !-The Old North State has awoke, is full of energyfully alive also to all her interests. And she will protect and foster them, whatever may be the results to other States. Her own seaports she is determined to build up-especially Wilmington and Beaufort .-To this end a master stroke of policy is aimed at in her present Convention. Its object is no less than the construction of a railroad from this point, in each direction, connecting Jonesboro', in Tennessee, with Wilmington! The principal object of this is, to convey all the trade of the Western part of this State and as much of that from Tennessee as possible, to her own

By a glance at the map, you will see that the road will pass Southward through Anson, Richmond, Robeson and others of the best counties in the State. Abundant capital can be raised for its completion, without either State aid or foreign funds. The Convention is large, able and enthusiastic, and there seems to be no doubt of the completion of the lower half of this road in a short time, and the ultimate extension of it into Tennessee

And now I come to the fact which deserves the special consideration of your readers. One of the alleged causes inducing to this course on the part of the people in the Western part of the State is the grievance which they suffer at Columbia-the detention of 18 hours and the expense of a dollar in going from one depot to another—besides the bill at the public house! Great indignation is felt at this. They had looked for a reform; their hopes have been disappointed-and they will submit to it no longer. she possesses, but also of the genius shown by her A gentleman of high character, who has just returned from a tour to the North and the West, denounced this tax and detention as the greatest outrage he had ever met with in any part of the United States.

I give the facts as these people state them, leaving it to your citizens to correct the evil, if evil there be or let go the trade and travel that would otherwise in a measure, have gone to Charleston. A free "dinner" was given by the citizens Charlotte on the 4th, at which about 500 invited guests sat down. It was a magnificent affair. Good cheer, high hopes, and State pride, rose to about the same point with the thermometer; and I greatly mistake if the action of this Convention, still in session, will not tell, in all coming time, upon the interests of more States than were there represented.

This young man, eight weeks back, tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and by the joint use of these remedies, his blood was so cooled and purified, that the whole of the blotches disappeared, and he now enjoys excellent health.—These medicines will cure any disease of the skin, even of twenty years standing.

Dysentery, Diarrheea, and Summer Complaint.

In presenting this justly celebrated Medicine to the public, we make no rash assertions of its efficacy, nor is any nope held out to the afflicted which facts do not warrant. hope held out to the afflicted which facts do not warrant.

This remedy having been for years used in this place, for the cure of the above diseases, and those appertaining to the same class, the Proprietor has been induced to offer it on a more extensive scale, with a view to lessen the amount of human suffering. I have never known it to fail when the lirections have been strictly adhered to.

Many uscless nostrums have been palmed upon the public, and I hesitated for some time, until thoroughly convinced of its efficacy. Certificates. Extract of a letter received from S. J. Carroll in saying that your Specific is one of the best medicines extant for Dysentery, Diarrha, &c. You possibly may recollect my case; if it has escaped your memory, I will give you briefly the facts. I had tried everything that 1 had seen used, but with little success; and after using enough to start twenty-five Homeopathic M. Ds., I began to despair, when you kindly offered me your invaluable Medicine, which cured me most effectually. S. J. CARBOLL. Yours, truly, SAVANNAH, Ga., December 26, 1851. Mr. Wm. H. Lippitt, — Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure I acknowledge the wonderful effects of your Medicine for curing Diarhoea or Bowel Complaints, as I am satisfied it was the means, under God of saving the life, first of my Child, and then of my Brother. As my Brother was given up by two of the most eminent physicians in this place, Drs. Richardson and Wregg, and when I consulted the latter, as to the propriety of trying it on him so low, he said I might, satisfy myself that I had left nothing untried, but he not think that Medicine would be of any use to him. But, thank God, he was mistaken, as we saw the salutary effects in 24 hours, and in ten days he was able to be out of bed.

Terrible Rathroad Accident and Loss of Life,

A terrible Railroad collision took place on the Baltimore and Susquehanna Railroad on the afternoon of the 4th, by which twenty-five to thirty persons were killed and a large number wounded, some of whom wish to legislate for North Carolina, to "define their miles from Baltimore. It seems that three trains of there was a grand Native American Celebration of the day. One of the trains returned at 2 o'clock; another started about 5 o'clock, and another shortly ny that it is either. Will the candidates assume the after. A little before 5 o'clock, the accommodation train for York started on its way up, the Conductor dreadful to relate, an excursion train from the Grove had also started; and they met, about three-quarters and of draining the public purse-and, therefore, that of a mile above the Relay House, at the turn of an they should be abolished, or greatly modified. abrupt Switch, and came together with a fearful crash. About half a dozen cars were crushed or shivered to atoms, and a large number of their unhappy inmates either killed upon the spot or dreadfully injured. So far as ascertained, those killed upon the spot, or since dead of their injuries, amount to twenty-seven. The wounded amounted to some 63, a great proportion of them very severely-many fatally. Three have died at the Infirmary.

Of course the scene was terrible in the extreme. It seems to me, as it has to many others, no doubt. that there should be a railroad up the Cape Fear River to Fayetteville. The route is a good one on the south-western bank of that stream, and the two towns are identical in interest, feelings and prosperity, or ought to be so. Now, take McRae's Map of North Carolina, and draw a line from Wilmington to Elizabeth, following the general course of the River -that is, the shortest line without crossing the river, and it will be found that the distance between the to Charlotte, via Elizabeth, Lumberton, Rockingham, Charter of the "Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio Rail- It is feared that the wound inflicted upon the boy (a little off the line,) Wadesboro,' to Charlotte, 149 Fear; and if we draw an air-line from Wilmington through Lumberton, Wadesboro', and near Rockingham. This is the most extraordinary war of which history gives an account. In all the contests that have ever before occured between nations, individuals or wild beasts, the great object of the combatants has invariably been to do each other as much mischief as possible. In the Eastern war, the objects seem to be to accomplish the least possible amount of harm. We have received dates from Havana to June 24, Except capturing a few merchant vessels, and bombarding the commercial ports of Odessa, the magnificent allied squadrons have been as innoxious as so many unarmed pilot boats. Admiral Dundas drives his slow coaches of seventy-fours at a gentle pace over the Black Sea, letting the Russian cruisers dash by him without a challenge, and Admiral Napier's big line of battle ships frown majestically upon the Russian fortifications, while the Russian fortifications frown as grandly in return. There seems to be no such thing as coming to blows. The war is a theatrical representation of war, as far as England and France are concerned : and if any one gets killed, it

> THE DANISH SOUND TOLLS -The Washington Union publishes the correspondence between the State Department and our representative at Copenhagen, and with the government of Denmark, commencing with Mr. Webster's instructions to Mr. Jackson, of September 1, 1851, upon the subject of the Danish-sound tolls, communicated to the Senate by the President, on the 30th ultimo. The correspondence is lengthy and not very definite as far as the attainment of the object proposed, the abrogation of the tolls, is concerned, though the Union expresses the opinion that, "before the term of Gen. Pierce expires, this government will succeed in abrogating the sound duties." Mr. Bedinger, our present representative at Copenhagen, states that the Danish Minister of Foreign Affairs had replied at some length to of the Principal, and elsewhere in the village at from $7 his representations on that subject. He urged that the right to exercise the dues had been exercised by Denmark since "time immemorial;" that all other the right to exercise the dues had been exercised by Denmark since "time immemorial;" that all other the right to exercise the dues had been exercised by Denmark since "time immemorial;" that all other them. that our trade in the Baltic was much less than that of other nations, and, consequently, we had the less cause of complaint; that Denmark could not exempt one nation from the payment of the tolls without exempting all others, which would cause a ruinous reduction in the revenue of the State, &c. He finally promised to lay the matter before his majesty's government in council, but at the same time expressed to Mr. Bedinger the opinion that Denmark would never voluntarily consent to remit the tolls.

It appears from the correspondence that the Sound tolls levied upon our chief products, which find a market in the countries bordering upon the Baltic, and beyond them, according to the most reliable information on the subject, is as follows: Raw cotton, per 100 pounds Rice, per 100 pounds

Paddy, (rice in,) per 100 pounds Raw tobacco, per 100 pounds -Whale oil, per barrel .
